Keep an eye on your Windows filesystem with Always Watching!
Liquid Mirror Enterprises has released Always Watching v. 2.0, a Windows utility that runs in the system tray and autmatically notifies you of changes to any folders or files you choose on your hard drive or network. Notifications can come in the form of popup windows, a flashing tray icon, Windows NetSend messages, internet email messages or by launching programs or scripts.

Always Watching! is fully customizable and contains many features specific to file monitoring such as: The ability to watch any folder, whether local to your computer or on the network. Customizable notifications including a popup window with auto dismiss options, a flashing tray icon that will queue up notifications until you want to see them, the Windows Networking NetSend service, SMTP internet email with customizable "from name" and "from address" and the ability to launch programs or scripts and pass information about the change on the commandline. Always Watching also lets you set an optional delay to prevent frequently changing folders from triggering too many notifications. You can watch for a variety of changes to a specific file, a specific folder, or an entire tree of folders and subfolders.

Always Watching! runs under Windows NT4/2000/XP/2003, costs $29.99(US), and may be purchased securely online at http://www.liquidmirror.com/. You can download a free, fully-functional 15-day trial version from the same Internet address. For more information, contact: Liquid Mirror Enterprises, 10073 Valley View St. #121, Cypress, CA 90630.
